“ Tony, I'll always remember that Valentine's Day that we said we weren't going to go to any restaurants and wait so long to be served on Valentine's Day, so we decided to go for a boat ride when instead. So we hurried home from work, and got into the boat before it got dark to celebrate our Valentine's Day boat ride. On the way back, our boat broke down and we had to paddle back in. We got home around 9 pm exhausted. But it was all worth it, because we were together. #loveconquersall I'll always love you. Susan
