“ I'm so sorry, Aron. I just found out. I literally talked to you 3 days before. I wish I would have known. I would have gotten you help. I love you always.

*'Til I run out of time
I'm gonna spend the rest of mine
With one arm around my baby
And one arm around my boys
A heart that's still pretty crazy
And a head that just got sick of noise
If the world comes knocking
Tell 'em I'm not home
I'm finally holdin' my own
And when my time on Earth is done
I want they write it on my stone
I lived, loved, and died holdin' my own
I lived, loved, and died holdin' my own.'*

“ No words can express my sorrow. I knew Aron as a kid and a young man. He loved his son, his mom, his dad, his brother, his whole family. Loved his Tennessee Vols, Dallas Cowboys and especially fishing. I will miss him. So many great memories will keep him alive. You never know how much you love and miss someone until their gone. I am at a loss. God speed Aron. See you in another life "Mang" (meaning friend. pal, buddy) we said that to each other all the time.. I will cherish the knife you gave me and our bonfires and fishing times. You are with your Grandmother and little sister now. Please help your mom get through this , give her some kind of vision or sign you are ok, she loves you so much. Love you, Russell
