“ This is my final farewell to my dear friend Ava, and it is a sorrowful one. We both grew up in St Charles Parish and shared many special times together with our sisters, Lady and Michelle, all of us within a year or two apart in age. Our late night escapades and adventures lead us to swimming in the moonlight on warm summer nights in Sellers pond to all of us enjoying nights out on the town. I guess you would refer to it as pub-crawling these days. What fun and crazy times we shared.

Ava's mother, Maw Maw, could not have cherished her daughters more and doted on them constantly. Michelle is now gone, as is sweet Maw Maw, and I know they watch over you now Ava.

Forty years or so had passed since I had seen and spent time with Ava. Our paths had taken us different directions. I was lucky to have been able to spend these later years with Ava reminiscing over all the good times we shared. I will miss you and love you. You will not be forgotten. Rest well my dear friend. Maw Maw and Michelle await you. Love you - Phoebe
