“ Our heart goes out to Danny, his beloved, and his brothers and sister at this sad occasion. We feel so blessed that we were a part of George's life and will always remember how much of a true man of the south he was. When you look up Southern Gentleman in google, his photo would surely be given as the prime example. We will miss this man, and his can do approach to everything, and his love of life and all around him. Good bye my old friend. Dean Ogren and Steve Kent
