“ In the quiet corners of my heart, where memories of you reside, I find myself struggling to articulate the depth of my love for you, Mom. Since the day you left us, the void you left behind has felt immeasurable. I miss you more than words can convey, and I'm haunted by the feeling that I never quite met your expectations, despite my earnest efforts to be the daughter you wished for.

Your love, Mom, was unwavering and unchanging, like the North Star guiding me through life's darkest nights. Each day without you is a challenge, a journey to find the strength to move forward, even though the weight of your absence is heavy upon my heart.

You were a tireless worker, a beacon of strength who never hesitated to lend a hand to those in need. Your generosity knew no bounds, and your kindness touched countless lives. Though you didn't wear your heart on your sleeve, your love shone through in the quiet, reserved way that was uniquely yours.

We shared a belief in the possibility of reconnection through spiritism, a comforting thought that one day we will bridge the gap of our time apart with a warm embrace and long-overdue words of "I love you." In that moment, I will finally find solace, knowing that our love endures, transcending the boundaries of this earthly existence.

Until that day arrives, I carry your love with me, an eternal flame that lights my path, a reminder that you are never truly gone. I love you, Mom, and I always will, forever cherishing the lessons you taught me and the love you bestowed upon me.

Nos cantos silenciosos do meu coração, onde as lembranças de you reside, I find myself struggling to articulate the depth of my love for you, Mom. Since the day you left us, the void you left seems immeasurable. I miss you more than words can express, and I am haunted by the feeling that I never fully met your expectations, despite my sincere efforts to be the daughter you wished for.

Your love, Mom, was unshakable and constant, like the North Star guiding me through the darkest nights of life. Every day without you is a challenge, a journey to find the strength to move forward, even as the weight of your absence presses down on my heart.

You were a tireless worker, a lighthouse of strength that never wavered. Your generosity knew no limits, and your kindness touched countless lives. Although you never showed your love in an effusive way, it shined quietly and reservedly, uniquely yours.

We believe in the possibility of reconnection through spirituality, a comforting thought that one day we will shorten the distance of our separated time with a warm embrace and the words "I love you". In that moment, I will finally find solace, knowing that our love endures, transcending the limits of this earthly existence.

Until that day comes, I carry your love with me, a eternal light that illuminates my path, a reminder that you are never truly gone. I love you, Mom, and I will always cherish the lessons you taught me and the love you gave me.

with all my love,

Jane

“ Marinete was a dear friend of my moms and although they were out of touch in the last years, I remember their friendship and the laughs they had. As a kid growing up I remember her as a devoted mother and hard worker. May she rest in peace 🙏 and sending strength to her daughter Jane and family.
