“ I knew Michael as a bold real estate investor who always had time to listen to your situation and provide sage advice. Michael was a tremendous resource for navigating day to day situations and he enjoyed the business everyday and will live on through the wisdom that he shared with others.

“ I recently heard about Michael's death, and I wanted to send my sympathies. Michael took me under his wing when I was considering a career in real estate/restoration; I worked for him for a while as his "girl Friday," and he (along with my mother) helped me purchase and renovate my first house (in Uptown). I ended up moving out of state to go back to graduate school and my life took me on a different path, so I haven't talked to him in years, but was saddened to hear that he had passed away. He was a wonderful support for the season during which our lives intersected, and I can still hear him call me "darlin'." I'm sure he'll be missed. Condolences to all his family and friends.
